ECLIPSES FOR THE YEAR 1890.

There will be three Eclipses in the year 1890:—Two of the Sun and one of the Moon, and a lunar Appulse.

The Lunar Appulse occurs June 3d, at 12 o'clock 39 min., in the morning. The nearness of the approach and the uncertainty as to the effect of the Earth's atmosphere render it doubtful whether the Moon will enter the shadow of the earth or not.

The first is an Annular Eclipse of the Sun—June 17th at 12 o'clock 15 min., in the morning, therefore invisible. Visible in Asia, Europe, Africa and the Atlantic Ocean.

The Second is a Partial Eclipse of the Moon—November 26th at 7 o'clock 54 min., in the morning. Invisible here, visible generally in Asia, East Indies and the Pacific Ocean.

The Third is a Central Eclipse of the Sun—December 11th at 6 o'clock 48 min., in the evening. Visible in Australia, Indian Ocean and South Pole.

Mars (♂) is Called the Governing Planet this Year.

CENTENIAL ALMANAC FOR 1890.

MARS IS THE RULING PLANET THIS YEAR.

THE YEAR IN GENERAL—Under this planet the year is more dry than humid, and though there be frequent rains, yet it will be very dry.

SPRING.—In general will be dry, rough, and cold, with frost until the first of May; hence the sheep should not be put on the grain and meadows, as they will do more injury than good.

SUMMER.—Mars occasions, above all other planets, a hot Summer; and the heat of the Sun will be so great, that one can scarcely walk on the sand without shoes. The nights will be very warm and insufferable. Rivers, springs and wells will be very low.

FALL.—Will be more dry than humid, and grapes will yield much wine. Even if it does occasionally freeze in October, November will be warm throughout. There will be but little snow before the last of November.

WINTER.—Will be tolerably cold, dry and changeable.

SPRING CROPS.—Barley sown in time on well manured land will yield well; but late sowing, on sand and heavy clay soil will produce little. All spring crops should be well covered. There will be but little oats yet very good. Corn, Buckwheat, Rice, and Tobacco will yield well. Potatoes, cabbage and turnips will be a medium crop. Hay and aftermath will be light, therefore sheep should be kept off the meadows.

FALL CROPS.—Rye will yield well, but wheat will be only a medium crop.

FALL SEEDING.—As the winter will set in late, early sowing will not be necessary.

FRUIT.—Pears will be a better crop than apples. Cherries and quinces will be very scarce. No acorns and but few nuts.

GRAPE CULTURE.—Grapes will be abundant and the wine good.

THUNDERSTORMS, TEMPESTS.—In this year there will be but few storms and rain, but heavy thunder.

INSECTS.—Snakes and grasshoppers will be very numerous.

OBSERVATIONS ON THE CLOSING YEAR.

ANOTHER year has well nigh run its rounds and the time has come again that we are called upon to make preparations for another Almanac. And among the essential things to every well regulated family is a good and reliable Almanac, one that is as reliable as modern science can make it, giving the phases of the moon, the "up' and "down" signs, the exact number of days in each month, the conjectures of the weather,etc. By some, of course, a number of these things are not considered essential. But the Almanac maker must anticipate the wants of his patrons and act on the principle that a little too much is better than not enough.

In some cases ignorance is bliss, and if this bliss can be had in no other way, why not enjoy it, even if the things that give it are not strictly after the order of science. There are things that are practically true for which there can be no scientific reasons given.

Though they now seem to be delusion, there may a time come when they can be accounted for as intelligently as many other things that were once enshrouded in mystery. At any rate, there is no use of sneering at things simply because we are not able to work them out with mathematical exactness.

There was a time that we entertained doubts about things which we could not understand. But as years heap upon us we have seen so much that we don t understand that we think it best to accept all as truth except that which we can clearly prove to be untrue.

Though the year has been one noted for bountiful crops and an abundance of all the necessaries of life, it has had its thorns, its sorrows and its tears. Storms, fires and floods, have at different times and in various places, given vent to their fury and destructiveness, Trees have been swayed to the ground, building have been made to topple over as though they were founded on the sand, while the great ships in the seas have been submerged beneath the mighty waves and gave to thousands an unwelcome death and watery grave.

Floods, like mighty avalanches have swept before them everything that was within their track, and death and desolation were found in their trails. Fires, like avenging storms and messengers of death coursed through lands and cities destroying millions of property, leaving behind them, ashes and poverty, thus showing the folly of relying on worldly possessions alone. None of these things are the enduring riches that give peace and satisfaction when the work is done, and the Master calls us from the field. God gives us, in these things many instructive lessons but we are all too slow in learning them. He wants us, some how, to learn that we truly have no abiding city here—that men are all sojourners as our fathers were—seeking that eternal city whose maker and builder is God. But while hundreds and thousands of our fellows have been carried away through the power of the destructive elements, we are still living and have great reasons to be thankful to our divine bene factor through whose mercies we have been permitted to live and enjoy the blessings by which we are surrounded.

One of the important lessons we have to learn is, that time is passing and with it our allotted number of days are continually growing less. This lesson we learn from our evenings and mornings, spring, summer, and autumn, and the passing years.

As we open the pages of this Almanac for the year 1890 we are reminded that another year is passed and also another decade is ended. We enter the new year and the new decade,but how many of us will follow them through we know not. But this we do know; if we are children of the Kingdom of Christ, whether we live or whether we die we shall be his to live and to enjoy forever.

We close by wishing all of our patrons a happy and prosperous year.

"The place which the Bible occupies in the history of the world knows no parallel. As a system of objective truth for a fallen race, it admits of no improvement and of no increase. There are no heights nor depths, no lengths nor breadths, which are not already included in it. Of self-advance it can know nothing; it is already at the gaol; its only grief is that man will not follow. All his wanderings it has foreseen; all his emergencies provided for. Its scheme was laid at the first on the calculation of every element on man's nature, and every combination of which those elements admit. Its march through time has been marked by a train of blessings. Silently as the light it comes, and the darkness of ages flees before it. With the majesty of law it comes, and the anarchy of evil subsides into order and peace. There is no form of guilt which it has not vanquished, no intensity of anguish which it has not assuaged. And still it awaits each succeeding generation, on a higher level, and at a new starting point, beckoning the way to unattained heights of knowledge and excellence."

THE FULFILLMENT OF THE SCRIPTURES.

AS the days of Noah were, so also shall the coming of the Son of Man be, for as in the days that were before the flood, they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day Noah entered into the ark, and knew not until the flood came and took them all away. Noah had been preaching to the people, and warning them for the space of over a hundred years that God would send a flood upon them, and at the same time of his warning the people he was engaged in building an ark, as the Lord had directed him, for the saving of himself and household. Yet they disbelieved, repented not, and perished in the flood. And so it will be with this wicked world when Christ shall come. They will be found unprepared because of unbelief. Jesus says: "Watch, for you know not what hour your Lord doth come; but know this, that if the good man of the house had known in what watch the thief would come, he would have watched and not suffered his house to be broken up. Therefore be ye also ready, for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of Man cometh." Again Jesus said: "But and if that evil servant shall say in his heart my Lord delayeth his coming, and shall begin to slight his fellow servants and to eat and to drink with the drunken, the Lord of that servant shall come upon him in a day when he looketh not for him, and in an hour that he is not aware of." It is really marvelous that our Lord foretold that the evil servants would in the last days eat and drink with the drunken at the church festivals, which are quite popular over the land to-day. Their portion shall be appointed with the other hypocrites and disbelievers of the Word where there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth. Jesus told His deciples many things that would take place after His departure and before his return. And we hope that every believer of the Holy Scriptures are aware that the predictions that have been foretold by the Savior preceding his second coming have already been fulfilled. Christ has said, "Take heed that no man deceive you, for many shall come in my name saying, I am Christ, and shall deceive many."

This has already been fulfilled in the early stage of Christianty. And ye shall hear of wars and rumors of wars. See that ye be not troubled for all these things must come to pass; but the end is not yet. "For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom, and there shall be famines and pestilences and earthquakes in divers places. He has said all these are the beginning of sorrows. Then shall they deliver you up to be afflicted, and shall kill you, and you shall be hated by all nations for my name's sake; and then shall many be offended and shall betray one another, and shall hate one another."—Matt. 24: 7 to 10. Thus far we see the predictions literally fulfilled, and we can go on pointing out the calamities in rotation as Christ has given them if time and space would allow. We would like to dwell a little on the 24th and 25th verses of the 13th chapter of St. Mark. But in those days, after that tribulation, the sun shall be darkened and the moon shall not give her light, and the stars of heaven shall fall, and the powers that are in heaven shall be shaken. On the 19th day of May 1780, between 10 and 11 o'clock the sun became as black as sackcloth of hair, and the earth became enshrouded in darkness and gloom. On the night following the darkness was so great that it could be felt, and that a white handkerchief could not be seen when held directly before the eyes, the darkness also occurred about one day after the moon was full, and when it should have made its full light, but neither the moon nor anything else could be seen. The falling of the stars occurred on the memorable night of the 13th of Nov., 1831. The third sing was to have been the shaking of the powers of heaven. We believe He had an allussion to the electric powers of the ariel heavens, or the atmosphere in height.

We will also turn to the 47th and 48th verses of the 24th chapter of St. Luke, where he says: Repentances and remission of sins should be preached in His name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem. And ye are witnesses to these things."

During the present age we learn that the New Testament has been translated into the language of all the nations of the earth, and have been forwarded to them by the missionaries. The gospel is not to be preached into all the nations to christianize the people, but for a witness to condemn the world for not accepting Christ.

Now learn a parable of the fig-tree.—"When his branch is yet tender and putteth forth leaves, ye know that summer is nigh." So likewise said Jesus: "When ye see all these things know that it is near, even at the doors." Therefore it becomes us who have named the name of Jesus to watch and pray that we may not be sleeping when he shall make His appearance. Christ has comforted his people with the promise of that great harvest which is to be reaped at the end of the time. He shall send His angels, and shall gather together His elect from the four winds, from the uttermost part of the earth to the uttermost part of heaven. And the apostle also shows that Christ's faithful disciples, that are in their graves, will have to be first resurrected at the sound of the last trumpet, and that those who are found alive at that time, and are prepared and watching for His coming, and the resurrected saints, will then all be caught up together, at the same time to meet the Lord in the air, and He will then take them home. What a comforting thought it is to God's children to meet their Father, and see him as He is, and to return home with Him and to dwell in paradise throughout all the ceasless ages of eternity. But, Oh! what shall become of the unrighteous and the wicked, there will then be a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation, even to that same time. The tares which are now being bundled up, will then be consumed by the fire of God's wrath. "Take heed unto yourselves, lest at anytime your hearts be over charged with surfeiting and drunkenness, and cares of this life, so that day come upon you unawares, for as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth.

LAURA BRUBAKER FOFT.

THE PARSEE, JEW AND CHRISTIAN

A Jew entered a Parasee temple, and beheld the sacred fire. He spake to the priest,—"How ye adore the fire?"

"Not the fire," answered the priest, "it is the image of the sun and its quickening light."

"Then," asked the Jew, "Do you worship the sun as your Deity? Do ye not know that he is but a crea ure of the Almighty."

"We know that," replied the priest, but sensitive men requires a sensible sign to comprehend the Highest, and is not the sun the image of the invisible and incomprehensible Fountain of Light, which sustains and blesses all things?"

Then the Israelite answered:—"Do you people then discern between the image and the original? They call the sun their God, and descend from him lower still, kneeling before an earthly flame. You charm their outward but blind their inward eye, and whilst placing before them the earthly light, withdraw from them the heavenly. Thou shalt make no image of likeness. '

"How do you describe the Supreme Being?" asked the priest.

The Jew answered, "We will call him Jehovah-Adonia, that is the Lord, which is, which was, and which is to come."

"Your word is great and glorious," said the Parsee, "but it is terrible. '

Just then a Christian joined them, and said, "We call him Abba Father."

Then the Heathen and and the Jew looked at one another with wonder, and said—

"Your word is the highest and nearest! But who gave you courage to call the Eternal thus? Who else," said the Christian, "but He, the Father himself? ' Upon this he declared to them the mystery of the manifestation of the Father in the Son, and the word of reconciliation. And as they heard this, they believed and raising their eyes to heaven, they spake full of fervor and devotion: "Father, beloved Father! " And then they joined their hands all three and called themselves brethren.

HISTORY OF THE FAR WESTERN BRETHREN.

[Abridged by W. W. Strickler, taken by request of the deceased, from the diary of Elder John Clingingsmith, of Hadleycreek church, Pike Co. Ill.]

THE so-called "far western brethren," were found in Kentucky, Missouri, and Illinois as early as the year 1800.

Elder Casper Rolland was the first Dunker minister known in Kentucky. (Date not given) and Eld. John Hendricks from North Carolina was the next; soon after Adam Hostetler and one Hawn, (ministers) appeared there. From there Eld. John Hendricks went to Southeastern Mo., and Ill., and found Brother Jacob and George Hunsaker.

In 1787, Eld. George Wolfe, father of Eld. George Wolfe, of Liberty, moved from Lancaster county, Pa., to Fayette county, same State. In the year 1800 he moved to Logan county, Kentucky. In the year 1809, on his return home from a preaching tour in Southeast Mo., and Ill., he took sick and died at the old town of Kaska, Ill. This was the first death of a Dunker known in the State. His sons Jacob and George Wolfe were then living in Union county, Ill. In 1821, George Wolfe, his wife and 12 others were baptized in Clear Creek, Union county, Ill., by Eld. John Hendricks. These were the first baptized in Ill., and in the same year George Wolfe was called to the ministry, and Jocob Wolfe and George Davis, to the deacons office under the supervision of Eld. Hendricks.

In the spring of 1813, Eld. Hendricks died. In the same year Eld. Adam Hostetler and Hawn, of Kentucky came and ordained George Wolfe to the Eldership in Union county, Illinois. This was the first Dunker ordination known in the State. Soon after this Hostetler and Hawn began to preach strange doctrine and was afterward expelled.

The first Brethren found in Missouri were Peter Baker, John Miller and Joseph Niswinger, who came from North Carolina, and Daniel Cliningsmith, from Pennsylvania, all of which moved there in 1795. Daniel Clingingsmith, father of Eld. John Clingingsmith, got a Spanish land grant, as the Spaniards then owned the country.

Eld. John Hendricks was the first Dunker minister that ever preached in Missouri and Eld. Peter Baker was the first brother ever buried in the State, who died in 1810, and Brother Isaac the first one baptized there.

The first communion in Missouri was held at the house of Brother Joseph Niswinger in 1810. Superintended by Eld. John Hendricks.

James Hendricks, son of Eld. John Hendricks, was ordained to the eldership on Whitewater Creek, Capejerardan county, Missouri, on the 17th day of October, 1818, by Eld. George Wolfe, of Union county, Illinois. This was the first ordination in Missouri by the Brethren. In 1824 there were 50 communicants in Cape county, Missouri. This was about 40 miles from the Brethren in Union county, Illinois. These brethren washed feet after supper and before the communion. The sisters broke the bread and passed the cup of communion the same as the brethren. They omitted the reading of a chapter between the supper and the communion and passed the salutation after the communion as a farewell token of love.

In the year 1820 there was a council called in Kentucky, on the subject of feetwashing, at which some elders from Eastern Pennsylvania were present and Eld. George Wolfe, of Illinois and Eld. James Hendricks, of Missouri, were also there. At said council meeting it was agreed that the farwestern brethren should go on in their way until they could see different. Soon after this these Kentucky brethren went off with Hostetler and Hawn.

This was the last conference between the far-western brethren and the eastern brethren until 1855, when a committee was appointed to visit the western brethren, May the 8th, 1856. Said committee met the western brethren in their meeting house near Liberty, Adams county, Illinois, in which was another compromise with them. (See revised minutes pages 341–345.)

In the year 1827 a number of brethren moved from Union county to Adams county, Illinois. Among them were the Hunsakers and William Lierle, father of the present William R. Lierle. In 1831, Eld George Wolfe came from Union county, Illinois. In the fall of 1831, they had their first love feast in the county at the house of John Wigles. While on his rounds of preaching Eld. Wolfe found Eld. Ishum Gibson in Morgan county, Illinois. About this time Eld. George Wolfe, Junior, (nephew of Eld. George Wolfe, of Liberty,) came from Iowa, and in 1849 he moved to California where he died a few years ago.

On the 20th day of April, 1850, brother Wm. R. Lierle was chosen to the ministry and is now a faithful and zealous worker in the cause of his Master and the Brethren church.

In the year 1861, David Wolfe, son of Eld. George Wolfe, of Liberty, was called to the ministry and was ordained to the eldership in 1864 by Eld. Ishum Gibson, assisted by Eld. John Fitz. This Ishum Gibson was ordained on Stanes River, Rutherford county, Tennessee, May the 28th, 1826, by Joseph Rolland. (Attest Abraham Welty.) Joseph Rolland was ordained April 1st, 1800, in South Carolina, by David Martain.

David Martain was ordained by Daniel Leatherman the first presiding elder of Pennsylvania and Maryland, and Daniel Leatherman was ordained by Alexander Mack, of Europe.

In 1834 Daniel Clingingsmith moved from Capejerardan county, Missouri to Hadley Creek township, Pike county, Illinois, and in 1835, brother Daniel died. This was the first death of any white person in Hadley Creek, T. F. About this time other brethren moved in. This was the beginning of the Hadly Creek church.

In 1842, John Clingingsmith (from whose diary this history is compiled) was baptized in Pike county, Illinois. In 1844, he was chosen to the office of deacon. On the 24th of October, 1874, he was forwarded to the ministry and on the 6th of December, 1882, he was ordained to the eldership by Elders Daniel Vaniman of Virden, Illinois, assisted by Eld. H. W. Strickler, of Adams county, Illinois.

On the 13th of June, 1887, Brother John Clingingsmith was called from earth to the spirit world and thus closed his diary from which may be gleaned many interesting items from among the brethren since 1785.

THE BRETHREN ON THE STORMY OCEAN.

IN the year 1730 when our brethren fled from Creyfield to seek for an asylum from their cruel persecutors in our highly favored America, they embarked from Friesland in a large Flemish vessel with several hundred passengers on board. When about midway on the mighty ocean a tremendous storm arose, so furious and of such long continuance, that all hopes were given up for lost. For the sea became so boisterous that waves were piled upon waves mountain high and threatened every moment to swallow up their frail barge.

The sails being all lowered and much of the merchandise had already been thrown overboard, but all was apparently of no avail, until almost overcome with grief and on the point of despair, the captain happened to come down into the hold of the ship which was occupied by the brethren, (their poverty forbidding them better accommodations) when, lo! he beheld the little band of brethren all united together in a company and fervently engaged with singing and praying!

The captain was so struck on beholding their calmness and the pious serenity of their minds, that he was moved to the shedding of tears; but went immediately back again, and began to admonish the consternated crew to take courage and to be of good cheer, as he no longer feared being lost—for he found that he had such pious men on board, that the Almighty would not for their sakes permit them to perish in the deep;—which inspired them with such confidence in the Almighty's protection, that they soon became calm and composed, the fury of the storm also abated; the sea soon became calm, and the rest of the passage was completed without any further indication of danger.

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF THE BRETHREN IN TENNESSEE.

THE first Brethren of Tennessee were emigrants from Virginia. As early as 1798-or-9, the Shanks and Simmons families, of Greenbrier county, Virginia, settled in what is now Hawkins county, Tennessee. The former locating on the Holston, the latter on Big Creek. Christ Simmons was a minister among them, but died soon after the settlement was made, and the membership was left without organization.

Michael Krous, from Shenandoah county, emigrated to Washington county, Tennessee, as early as 1799. He located on Knob Creek in 1801.

The Bowman families came from Franklin county, Virginia, in 1801. Some of them settling on Knob Creek, and others, later, on Boone's Creek. One member of this family had settled here some years earlier, but about the year 1797, he moved into the mountainous wilderness of the adjoining State of North Carolina. He and his companions were the first members of the church in Yancy county, of this State, where they located.

We thus see, that about the opening of the present century, we have three points of settlement of Brethren, each of which became the nucleus of an organization.

How long previous to these settlements, the faith of the Brethren had been preached here, is not known.

The church was regularly organized by Elder Samuel Garber of Rockingham county, Virginia, and very early in the century. The doctrines of the church had been preached here by the former, at an early day, while the country was yet but sparsely settled and much of it a wilderness. Traveling on horseback, a distance of three hundred miles or more from his home in rockingham county, Virginia, he is known to have visited the country as often as three different times. He was, most probably, the first of the brethren who preached the word in Tennessee.

The first resident minister of the Brethren here, was Isaac Hammer. His connection with the church, however, we believe was of short duration, on account of his entertaining heterodox notions.

From the time of the organization, up to 1834, the chief ministerial force of the church was Daniel Bowman and Michael Krous, the former preaching in the English language, the latter in the German. Besides these two brethren in Washington county, David Molsbee of Hawkins county, on the organization of the church there, in 1824, was added to the ministry.

The first communion service after the organization of the church in Washington county, was held in a private house, in the gap of the ridge between Knob Creek and Boones Creek. Only five members were present to engage in the service.

A communion service is said to have been held by a minister from North Carolina, by the name of Burkett, in connection with Isaac Hammer, during his ministry.

The scattered membership of the Brethren, continued quite small, up to 1833, when the Garber, Nead, Miller, and Lair families, seven families in all, emigrated from the Valley of Virginia, and settled in Washington county, making quite an accession to the church.

In 1834, Samuel Garber and John Nead were added to the ministry, and about the year 1841, John A. Bowman of Sullivan county, and Benjamin Byerly of Limestone, Washington county, were added as an additional force, Solomon Garber, Sr., and Solomon Garber, Jr., had been preaching some time before this date.

There were as yet, but two organizations, in all the territory occupied by the Brethren, these were Knob Creek in Washington county, and Cedar Grove in Hawkins county. As the membership increased, and the settlements of brethren extended from these points, separate organizations were made, each of which became a center of influence for increase of the church, and for additional ministerial work.

The field of labor of the ministry extended through all parts of Washington county, to surrounding counties, to different points in North Carolina, and West Virginia.

In 1844 a church was organized in Yancey county, North Carolina, with Henry Masters, and later, Peter Peterson, as ministers. Pleasant Hill, Sullivan county, and Limestone church, Washington county, were separated from the Knob Creek church, as distinct organizations, about the year 1846. Other organizations followed later, until from a single church, of a few members, with a single English minister, and one German, early after the opening of the century, the membership, ministry, and organizations, in point of numbers, have multiplied, until now, after a work of near ninety years, there a e twenty-eight churches, sixty-six ministers, and a membership of from seventeen to eighteen hundred.

For many years, with the church in Tennessee it was indeed the day of little things. For more than thirty years, there was not a single house of worship among them, save the private house, and the school house.

A house of worship was erected on Knob Creek, in 1834; on Limestone, 1851; at Pleasant Hill, Sullivan county, 18—; Cedar Grove, Hawkins county, 1858; Pleasant Valley, 1858; Cherokee or Pleasant View, 1858 or 9, and again in 1877; Whitehorn, 1864 or 5, others later.

Of the ministers who served the church in the earlier years of its history, and who have long since passed away, we will give a passing word. With what earnestness and zeal, they contended for the faith and doctrines of the church, some will still remember. Their number for years was quite small and the scattered membership, giving them numerous calls for preaching, necessarily made their labor heavy, and self-sacrificing. For this, their chief earthly reward was the joyous greeting with which they were met by those whom they visited, and for whom they preached, and the consciousness of a faithful discharge of their duty.

Of the varied ability among them it is not necessary to speak. One was warm hearted and sympathetic in his nature, and his style and manner of preaching appealed to the tender emotions of the heart. Another was a good counselor, having a wonderful knowledge of the scriptures, and was withall a good expounder. One was loved for his ability for earnest, warm-hearted exhortation and admonition. Another had ability for argument, and was always in his right element, when speaking on some controverted point. While another had a fine power of expression, was copious in the use of language, was a good expositor, and was always in èresting and instructive. One had been preaching in the Baptist fraternity for fiften years in the mountains of North Carolina. And though his style, and his forms of expression were like those in vogue in his own mountain home and country, yet in preaching there was something in the piercing eye, earnest manner, and native ability, that was not soon forgotton.

They all had a fond place in the hearts of their brethren. And the anxiety with which they were expected at the love feast, or district meeting, and the love and joy with which their appearance was greeted on such occasions is remembered only by the older members of the church here.

M. NEAD.

HOW ALL MAY PREACH.

ALL cannot preach from the pulpit, or deliver long and eloquent orations; but there is a kind of preaching that is permitted to all men; and oftentimes this kind is most effectual. Offices of kindness to the bodies and souls of those around us; words of encouragement to the weak, of instruction to the ignorant, of consolation to the troubled, of brotherly kindness to all, spoken by the fireside, the wayside, or bedside; hearty devotion to the services of religion in our families and our closets, as well as in the sanstuary; in a word all tokens of earnest, active, self-denying love to our fellow-beings, springing from our love to God, will form a most impressive sermon, a most convincing proof to the world around us, that we have been with Jesus.

THE HONITES.

ABOUT the beginning of the present century there was a number of brethren came from Virginia to Kentucky and there formed a settlement, and for a time were in an organized body or church.

Among their ministry was one Peter Hon, who was regarded as an able man among them and whose appeals to the sympathy of his hearers, soon aroused great interest wherever he went.

He came over to Ohio as early as 1820, if not before that date, and preached for the brethren in Adams and Highland counties, and soon there was quite a feeling for him there.

During one of his visits, he preached that the supper partaken of by the Brethren at this love-feast was the Jewish Passover; and that Jesus ate the Jewish Passover on the night of his betrayal. At the close of his sermon on this subject he extended an invitation to all who regarded the matter as he had preached it, and felt to unite with him, to arise and come forward and give him the right hand of fellowship. There was one, a speaker, John Countryman arose and gave to Hon the right hand, but when it was seen that no more of the congregation were united with the Hon's preaching. Countryman recanted and refused to go any farther in Hon's movement.

This severed Hon's connection with the churches of Southern Ohio, but he still continued to come one or more times each year, and whenever an opening was seen there he worked until a separate body called the Honites was organized, about 1830 the only difference at first betwixt them and the Brethren was one ate a supper at the time of communion and the other did not, believing it to commemorate the Jewish Passover. Hon preached the doctrines of the brethren as strongly as before, with the one exception above named and for some time, but with little success. Some however were baptized and with a true immersion. But this did not meet the wish of their leader and he took another step. He laid aside the true immersion and adopted single immersion, which gave a new move to the work and soon a large body was formed and meetings were held in different places.

One place of meeting was at my grandmother West's in Adams county, Ohio, and she with nearly all the family were baptized by single immersion. One daughter having been baptized by him before the change was made. My father was baptized in 1841 and from that date on till 1845 the Honites bade fair to sweep the land.

But trouble soon began and the fruit soon showed that the tree was not good.

Two young members were chosen to the ministry, in the time of the churches glory in order that preaching might be done while Hon was at his home in Kentucky, or at other points in Ohio and these young men soon threatened to sweep the world.

But jealousy began and then division, then strife, and at last ruin.

Each speaker had his friends and of course, his party as well as his weakness and each seemed to think that the other was his enemy and also got more than his share of the glory. They at first worked together but this soon ceased and then they would not fellowship each other or speak together. Every effort was made by Hon and also by the church to restore peace betwixt the young ministers but all in vain.

Other ministers from Kentucky came to assist in the work. One named George Hon, Joseph Hostetler and Eld. Doty, and I remember of seeing these when I was but four years old and of hearing them speak, and I remember of hearing Hon speak, and that when he appealed to their sympathies that nearly all the congregation wept.

But his appeals were not enough. The church went down to rise no more. Hon came back no more to the Union meeting house, as it was called. The members soon scattered to other denominations and many to the world. But the Honites there have been dead for forty years and the name is almost forgotten.

The two ministers lived to be old men, one a Campbellite and the other a Seventh Day Adventist and what is most remarkable of it all is that when their church was gone, the two became friendly with each other.

In the days of Hon's glory and that of his church he began the work near Danville, Highland county, Ohio, and some twenty miles west of the first congregation.

There he met with great success, a large congregation was formed and to them he made a visit on horseback from Kentucky, once or twice a year for a long time. And here they seemed to get along in peace until another form of trouble sprang up.

They seemed to have had but little if any discipline for their membership. They held their communion at noon, and some began to refuse the kiss of charity, and they began holding an open communion, it was soon impossible to tell who were members and who were not. At last there was an educated speaker came among them and he told them that feet washing was now important that it was an old Jewish custom and of course it also ought to be laid aside. This soon gave two parties to that congregation. One was for the old man Hon and for feet washing, while the other party was for the educated preacher and to lay feet washing aside.

Hon was sent for and came over to Ohio in 1852 or 1853 and labored again to make peace; and, by his strong appeal to the feelings of his congregation in words and weeping, brought them to tears. He then called for a standing vote by all who were willing to continue the ordinance of feet washing, and about one half of his membership (the older members) arose to their feet. But it was too late. That congregation never practiced feet washing any more. Hon came to see this body several times after feet washing was laid aside, but they were no longer known as Honites but as Campbellites, Christians or by some, called Disciples.

He still held that feet washing should be observed and so others with him held the same, but the popular feeling was with the world and against them, so the old man and his friends were compelled to give way and submit. And thus ended his work in Ohio.

Of his work in Kentucky we can say nothing. We are told that he died about 1870 and above 80 years of age.

To offer reflections upon the above is needless, but I will ask: Is it not lamentable that men with the word and example of Jesus Christ before them, will allow themselves to be led off with any form of doctrines, and simply because a man can work upon their feelings? That they will allow their sympathies to overrule their better judgment and also the word of God? And is it not very remarkable that members of our own brotherhood, when they have the path and light before them, and also the examples of those who have gone off from the brotherhood, and seeing too that nearly all these are now swallowed up and lost in the past; that there are still those who will allow themselves to be severed from the body for some trivial matter, and then start out to form a new denomination with the delusion that they may become a Luther or a Wesley? No the reformers are all dead and our work now is to stay with the body and help by God's means to bring it back to the pattern laid down by Jesus Christ, the greatest reformer of a world.

LONDON WEST.

CHRISTIAN joy is not a tumultuous passion, or feverish affection, but a calm and composed frame—a holy serenity of soul—a gladsome rest in the faithfulness and grace of Jesus. It sheds a lustre over the countenance; beams forth at the eye; and often causes it to be suffused in tears. It creates an indescribable delight in the heart.

No liquor has been sold for forty years in the town of Bessbrook, Ire., where John G. Richardson employs three thousand people in the manufacture of Irish linen, and as a result there is neither policeman, prison, pawnshop nor pauper in the town.

THE meanest paymaster in the universe is Satan. He never yet employed a hand that he didn't cheat. Young man, engage your services to a better Master.

THE YOUNG DISCIPLE.

The Young Disciple is a neatly printed weekly, published especially for the moral benefit and religious instruction of our young folks. It is now in its twelfth year, and has been gradually growing in favor among the people. As the price is very low for a weekly, we think that every family should subscribe for it, for the benefit of their children. In order that you may have no trouble in getting the change, we will send it for 1890 for 25 two-cent stamps.

FAHRNEY'S
BLOOD CLEANSER OR PANACEA.

This is the old genuine Fahrney's medicine, discovered in 1780. The perfect safety and splendid efficcacy of this old and well-known remedy is its strongest recommendation for its use together with the testimonials from responsible members of the church who speak in its favor, and say it gives the satisfaction which I claim for it. It strengthens and eulogizes the old by its renovating power over the circulation, and helps the youngest and weakest by its alternative and tonic action. This remedy is recognized as a wonderful and powerful Blood Cleanser, purifying and enriching the bl
ders of the liver, bowels
blood, skin diseases, con

S. E. Dubbel,

Dear Bro:—This is to certify that I have used and s to others that have used your Red Thyme Pain Cure, a we all regard it the best and surest liniment that can used. It is second to none when used as directed. A as for your Fahrney's Panacea it is useless to try to pra it by words. Simply a trial will convince all of its meri One of my neighbors was suffering for quite a while w carbuncles. I sold him one bottle of Fahrney's Panac and he received so much benefit from it that he came a bought six bottles. Respectfully yours,

S. E. DUBBEL,

Dear Sir:—I desire to speak a word in favor of yo Fahrney's Panacea, so that the public may know of i wonderful curative properties. I was under treatment two physicians for a long time, derived no benefit. Yo agent suggested that I use the Panacea. I have taken fi bottles and it has done me more good than the doctors other medicines that I ever used. I was a broken dow man; now my system has regained its former health and am able to do a good day's work. I feel grateful for i help and shall always recommend it. Respectfully,
